

David Tan

A Brief Resumé

David is a management consultant working in the areas of strategy, operations improvement, change management and organisation. He is an experienced executive with strong strategic and operations skills gained from business consulting and general management line roles.

Prior to joining Corteks, David has over 15 years consulting experience - over 10 years operating his own consulting practice and with Mainsheet Corporate (now part of PWC), and another 5 years with McKinsey & Co in their Sydney and Cleveland (US) offices. He has worked with large organizations in IT services, financial services, mining services, logistics services, building & construction materials, higher education, manufacturing, legal services, rural services, telecommunications, resources, manufacturing, medical research, not-for-profit and other sectors.

He has also worked as a senior executive with over 7 years in general management line roles (with P&L accountability) with CSR and with an on-line start-up.

Companies worked for include Boral, CSR, Alesco, Linfox Logistics, Sydney University, Leightons Construction, QR, Downer EDI, Ford (USA), Amcor, Fletcher Challenge, Wesfarmers, BOC Gases, Pasminco, Pilkington, Telstra, EDS, Blake Dawson Waldron, Corrs, NAB, AMP, Australian Human Rights Commission and others.

Prior to this he worked as a research engineer with Flow International, a high tech manufacturer in Seattle, and with Princeton University in the Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering and the Department of Applied Physics

David has a BE and Phd in Engineering from Melbourne University and an MBA (finance major) from the University of Washington.